WELL-BEING OF FUTURE GENERATIONS ACT AND FUTURE BANNAU

How FUTURE BANNAU MISSIONS AND OBJECTIVES ALIGN WITH THE WELL-BEING OF FUTURE GENERATIONS ACT

The Well-being of Future Generations Act requires all public bodies in Wales to carry out sustainable development. As part of this, they must set well-being objectives and take all reasonable steps to meet them.

The Brecon Beacons National Park Authority is a public body. The missions and mission objectives set out in Future Bannau are the well-being objectives set by Brecon Beacons National Park Authority. They include objectives to be achieved by the Brecon Beacons National Park Authority, and by partners and wider society.

The WELL-BEING OF FUTURE GENERATIONS ACT (WALES) 2015 defines sustainable development in Wales as

The process of improving the economic, social, environmental and cultural well-being of Wales by taking action, in accordance with the sustainable development principle, aimed at achieving the well-being goals.

Plans to meet the missions and objectives will be developed and delivered with partners during the course of the five-year Future Bannau management plan period. The Brecon Beacons National Park Authority Corporate Plan set out the main steps the public body itself will take to meet the well-being objectives.

Ways of Working	Future Bannau
Long-term The importance of balancing short-term needs with the needs to safeguard the ability to also meet long-term needs	Future Bannau is a five-year management plan for the National Park with a 25-year horizon. Some of the missions have a beyond five-year time span including the climate and nature missions. Monitoring framework is being developed in partnership looking at goals up to 2050 (or beyond where relevant)
Integration Considering how the public body's well-being objectives may impact upon each of the well-being goals, on their objectives, or on the objectives of other public bodies	Future Bannau is shaped by Doughnut Economics which combines the concepts of planetary boundaries with the UN Sustainable Development Goals to create an integrated approach to achieving well-being.
Involvement The importance of involving people with an interest in achieving the well-being goals, and ensuring that those people reflect the diversity of the area which the body serves	Future Bannau was developed over an extended period through extensive engagement with stakeholders. A People's Assembly and a Stakeholder Reference Panel were set up, and an extensive range of policy deep dive sessions were held to facilitate informed input into the Plan. People mission Equity, diversity, inclusion objective: We will challenge and remove discrimination and barriers to participation wherever they may occur, creating a National Park where everyone can find opportunity and belonging. Place mission BBNPA contribution: We will work with communities within the National Park to develop place plans that build on the special characteristics of their area, to improve quality of life, support economic well-being and enhance the built and natural environment. Involvement is the core of our delivery mechanism as highlighted through the Ser y Bannau within each mission and Partner section.

Ways of Working	Future Bannau
Collaboration Acting in collaboration with any other person (or different parts of the body itself) that could help the body to meet its well-being objectives	Place mission: To work with the people and agencies who are deeply rooted in these places to identify the key challenges, and work together to find the solutions that work on the ground. In doing this we seek to get at the heart of what makes places function as great places to work, live, and play - as providers of ecosystem services such as clean air, water, and locked in carbon. Delivery mechanism embraces collaboration, for example through the Ser y Bannau, within each mission and Partner section.
Prevention How acting to prevent problems occurring or getting worse may help public bodies meet their objectives	Future Beacons missions are shaped in response to the climate and nature emergencies and the cost of living and wellbeing crises. Acting at scale and speed on these challenges is the best way to prevent problems getting worse.
